

I will describe on-going efforts to extract structure and dynamics from noisy snapshots recorded at uncertain time points. Examples will include YouTube videos, the structure and conformations of molecular machines such as the ribosome, and the femtosecond dynamics of bond-breaking in small molecules like nitrogen.